LOTSAM-JETSAM-LIGAN!

NEWS NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The steamer will pass down tonight from Pomeroy.

The Henry M. Stanley passed up last night for Pomeroy.

The Kentucky State will pass down tomorrow from Pittsburgh.

The train will attend to Pomeroy business and the Queen City tonight.

The Queen City will pass up tonight for Pittsburgh. She has a fine trip of passengers.

The water is becoming scant in the Ohio, while some of the tributaries are almost swamped by rain.

It is reported on good authority that the fine new steamer Avon will, after this week, extend her run to Louisville, going through from the headwaters of the Kanawha to Louisville, making one round trip a week.

Captain Craner of the Avon and a member of the large shippers between Cincinnati and Louisville had a consultation at Cincinnati last week and it was decided then that the Avon would run to Louisville.

The Avon will be a perfect new steamer, with electric lights, a fine cabin, the best accommodations for passengers, and most important of all, she is the lightest steamer on the Ohio river, and can run against the other is compelled to quit on account of low water.

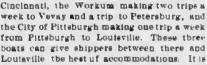

The Avon will make three independent boats in the trade below Cincinnati, the Wagon making two trips a week to Vevay and a trip to Pomeroy, and the City of Pittsburgh making one trip a week from Louisville to Louisville.

These three boats will give shippers between there and Louisville the best of accommodations. It is likely that the Avon's trip of leaving Cincinnati for the Kanawha river will be changed to some Thursday, so as to give her plenty of time to accommodate her passengers between there and Louisville. Enough support has already been promised the Avon to more than pay her expenses for the extra run.

A card of thanks.

I wish to say that I feel under lasting obligations to what Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has done for our family. We have used it in many cases of coughs, lung troubles and whooping cough, and have always found it the most perfect satisfaction. We feel greatly indebted to the manufacturers of the remedy and wish them to please accept our hearty thanks—Respectfully, Mrs. R. D. Dwyer, 1000 N. 1st St., St. Louis, Mo.

SO FATHER SAYS.
I wish that I'd been grandpa's child. That I could have had the joy of fishing in those good old days. When father was a boy. For then the fish grew bigger far. Than they do nowadays. And literally packed the streams—At least, so father says. They never caught a sucker then. That didn't weigh a ton. And picked over longer than a modern Armstrong gun. They used to yank out halibut in hundreds from our bays. And shad ran up the river to bite—at least, so father says. They never thought of using bait. To lure the wily trout. They reached a bushel basket down. And simply dipped them out. And in about an hour or two. And not an angler failed to come. Home loaded in those days—A habit father still pursues. At least, so mother says.

A LARGE CROWD
Attended the Opening of Electric Park Last Night—A Fine Attraction.

The opening of our popular amusement place, Electric Park, was a success. The cozy auditorium was crowded with a large and enthusiastic audience whose appreciation was evidenced by the hearty applause they accorded each performer. Manager Williams could be in for a big week's business, and he certainly gave his patrons their money's worth in the excellent program he has gotten together.

The program opened with Larry Connors in a bunch of new songs; then came Miss Jennie Platt, who rendered several of the late ballads in a charming manner; then the Connors, Larry and Annie, came with their pleasing comedy sketch, and kept the audience delighted with their singing and funny repartee for twenty minutes; J. Knox Gavin sang several parodies which pleased; Miss Annie Connors, America's greatest comic singer, sang several "coon" songs, and without a doubt we think the title justly belongs to her, as she is the least stammer of moon songs that has ever appeared in our city. Gavin and Platt closed the show with their costume operatic comedy, "A Gypsy Courtship," in which it gives them their chance for excellent voices.

To be sure a good show you had better see. Remember the admission is only 15c. including round-trip fare.

COUNTY COURT DAY.

Not a Very Good Attendance But the Stock Sales Seemed to Be All Right.

County Court Day yesterday was not attended by as large a crowd from the surrounding country in this state as characterized the previous days of the week.

Ohio, however, sent over a night increase, the number coming over on the ferryboat being 477.

The reason for the falling off on this side of the river is due to the replacement of the tolls on the main turnpike leading into the city.

At a previous County Court Day the former was seen to display $23, which he said he could spend in the city, as heretofore he had to give to the tollgate keepers.

There is no one but what will admit that the tollgate was a nuisance to the business interests of the city, and the Board of Trade should bend all its energies toward getting the tolls of the pike away and thus give the farmers a chance to get into the city free with their stock and money.

The stock sales were better than could expect from the slim attendance, as more cattle were brought in and all in good condition found ready purchasers.

Notwithstanding the rain that set in about noon, Limestone street presented a busy scene, and the purchasers did not allow the weather to interfere with them in the least. Began now and get ready for the 2nd County Court Day as it is hoped by that time that the pike will be free again.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., June 13.—Last Saturday a number of the best known citizens of Gallows' Mill went to the field where E. A. MIDDLETOWN, Ky., June 13.—A story comes from Harlan county, where the Taylor-Lee factions are at feud, telling that Tom Hain, one of the Taylor faction, was shot down near his home. There is a threatened outbreak of the old feud and there may be many deaths in the next 24 hours. There seemed to be several in the crowd who died upon him, and they could be heard riding away as Messer lay dying. Messer's wife is nearly overcome from sorrow at the sudden and violent death of her husband. This is the second killing within a fortnight. More trouble is sure to follow.

QUEER FLORIDA GOPHERS.

Curiouser Turkeys That the Native Eat Like Epicures Do Terrapin.

"The most interesting creature I ever saw in Florida," said a New York man who spent the winter there, "was the burrowing turtle. This turtle is peculiar to Florida, and it is an important factor in the domestic economy of the cracker population, for the Florida cracker dotes on the gopher—that's what they call this burrowing turtle—and thinks it is the finest thing in the turtle line that ever existed."

"Another thing that induces the gopher to dig its burrow out of the reach of water is that in those dry and sandy places the rattlesnake and other kinds of hideous-looking lizards are most plentiful, and the gopher is never happy unless its burrow is shared by a colony of other one. Find a gopher hole and uncover it and you will be sure to find from half a dozen to a dozen or more rattlesnakes, and many of 15 or 20 lizards of various sizes and colors and degrees of ugliness occupying it with its proprietor. The gopher plainly loves the companionship of these deadly things, although it is itself as meek and harmless as a dove."

"No dweller in those parts of Florida ever goes anywhere about without a bag slung over his or her shoulder. This is to put gophers in, as some are pretty sure to be found lurking in the wild grass patches. The moment a gopher is surprised by a person with a bag it shuts itself securely in its shell, and the cracker picks it up and tumbles it into the bag. The gopher is likewise trussed by digging a hole close to the entrance of its burrow and sinking a barrel or box into it and filling the trap with loose twigs. When the gopher comes out and starts on a foraging trip it tumbles into the trap and can't get out. Next morning the gopher is to the Florida cracker."

MONEY MADE EASY.

New Precautions Against Counterfeiting inaugurated by the Government.

The art of engraving by means of photographing and kindred aids has now reached such a degree of perfection that the government has been forced to redouble its vigilance to prevent frauds in that direction, says the Philadelphia Record. An old engraver said, in speaking of this matter: "This exposure of the recent big counterfeiting conspiracy has worked a change already in the system by which the government has heretofore kept track of dangerous counterfeiting methods. Chief Willie Lee, says that Taylor and Breckinridge employed a new system in imitating the $1000 Monroe head counterfeiter. He is wrong. The system has been in vogue for thirty years, and is common to all experts in our line. There are, no doubt, hundreds of engravers who would scorn to do a counterfeit of the present make, make counterfeit plates far better than the ones turned out by Taylor and Breckinridge. As a matter of fact, the plate that was used to print the counterfeit internal revenue stamps was a very imperfect piece of work, and there are apprentices I know of who could do better. However, they are good enough to fool the ordinary person."

"In the near future the government will require all engravers and those connected with engraving establishments to register at least once a month and to present a list of the work performed by them."

MEATS FOR OCEAN SHIPS.

Ten Tons of Beef and Two of Chickens Besides Sixteen Hundred Dried Birds.

Away down in the bottom of the ship the chief steward has a market of his own, one which he has stocked and from which he draws, this serving in the double capacity of merchant and customer, writes Helen C. Cander, describing "Housekeeping on an Ocean Steamship" in Ladies' Home Journal. Here is an enormous refrigerator, and is provided over by a steward who is responsible for every pound of meat within it. Before the ship slips from the dock the meat is stocked, for a full ship, with 2,000 pounds of beef, 2,000 pounds of veal and 3,000 pounds of mutton. From books along the walls and ceiling of another refrigerator hang bunches of birds, very much as dried corn and peppers hang from the rafters of old farmhouses. As many chickens as can be tied together are hung until 4,000 pounds are stowed away. Ducks are not as popular as chickens, therefore 750 pounds only are provided—about 150 pounds' allowance for each party. Turkeys are liked, and 1,000 pounds must be provided for the deck to the cook. Pigeons, squabs and other small birds, these are reckoned in pieces, and it is calculated that the family which floats across the ocean will devour 1,600 birds.

Never Heard of Kipling.

During Kipling's illness Henry James was one night riding home in a cab from his club in London. The news had just come that the crisis was past and the great writer on the road to recovery. As he stepped out on the sidewalk Mr. James handed the paper he had bought to the cabman. "Kipling's all right," he said. The cabman took the paper and handed down with a puzzled look on his face. "I don't seem to know the name of the 'oas,'" he said.
